

Successful Runoff Elections

Tuesday, March 22, 2022 was Election Day in the Municipal Run-Off Elections in six municipalities across Palm Beach County. When the polls closed at 7:00 p.m. on Election Day, over 20,000 voters in the City of Boynton Beach, City of Lake Worth Beach, Town of Lantana, Town of Jupiter, Town of Jupiter Inlet Colony, and City of Riviera Beach cast their ballot either by mail or on Election Day. Our Elections Team is proud to serve the voters of Palm Beach County and would like to thank the voters, poll workers, and municipal clerks who helped make these elections successful.

New Voter Information Cards

With the Florida Legislature and Palm Beach County's local governments having concluded the process of redistricting, many precincts in which a voter resides may be affected. Our Elections Office uses our state and county government's new and verified district boundaries to modify precinct lines, meet redistricting requirements, and ensure we place voters in their proper voting districts. Palm Beach County voters can expect to receive an updated Voter Information Card before the Primary Election of August 23, 2022. Your Voter Information Card will reflect any voting district, precinct number, and polling place change resulting from redistricting.
